

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION FORUM 2014eGovernment and eHealth Applications and Services

Present Your Solutions, Services and Products to Austrian and International Partners

October 20th, 2014

Austrian Federal Economic Chamber | Wiedner Hauptstraße 63 | 1045 Vienna, Austria

eGovernment is the synonym for modern and efficient administration. Public authorities and administrations provide services to a broad section of the public via various digital channels. This facilitates the contact with various public authorities, saving not only time, but also administrative costs. eHealth is the transfer of health resources and health care by electronic means. According to the WHO, it provides a new method for using health resources - such as information, money, and medicines - and in time should help to improve efficient use of these resources.

Austria has been playing a trailblazing role in this area for several years now. According to the European eGovernment Benchmark report 2014 by the European Commission, Austria's public administrators were able to achieve top rankings in all benchmark categories, e.g. "Transparency" and "Key Enablers". The eHealth Governance Initiative (eHGI) supports the cooperation between European Member States and eHealth stakeholders and has been coordinated by the Austrian Ministry for Health. Austrian public administrators and service providers are very experienced in designing, developing, implementing and operating successful eGovernment and eHealth projects.

The International eGovernment and eHealth Cooperation Forum 2014 in Vienna provides the opportunity for public authorities, eGovernment companies and service providers from across the globe to learn more about the latest trends in eHealth and eGovernment and to extend their network and find new business partners.

The Cooperation Forum is targeted at public administrators, service providers, companies and potential purchasers from all over the world who work in the following areas or who offer similar products and services:
